PRESS RELEASE

PASCO Announces Recipient for 2009 Playground

Family Child Learning Center in Tallmadge, OH chosen as company's corporate charity

Hudson, February 5, 2009: PASCO® announces the Family Child Learning Center, located in Tallmadge, OH, for this year's corporate charity. PASCO's first playground build took place in 1995. This fourteen-year tradition has produced eleven playgrounds for charitable organizations throughout Northeast Ohio.

This year's playground build will take place in early fall at the Family Child Learning Center in Tallmadge. Sponsored by the Akron Children's Hospital in conjunction with Kent State University, the Family Child Learning Center is a research and training program for children with developmental disabilities and has been helping not only the children, but their families as well, since 1980.

Children on the autistic spectrum benefit greatly from the sensory integration activities like swinging and climbing, as well as social skills and interaction, which are all benefits of a playground. Currently, the Family Child Learning Center does not have an outdoor playground for its children. PASCO is looking forward to providing the Center with the opportunity to improve the daily lives of its children and families.
